

TERRI SHINN

Statement

Doors have always intrigued me. Their lines, texture, color, and mood telling the stories of what might be behind them. Because we are all shut off from family and friends, doors have become a symbol of what we hope will be in our very near future. Let's begin opening the doors of the world!

Bio

Terri Shinn resides in Snohomish, Washington. Terri's work has been featured in numerous books, regional, national, and international shows, and has been included in private and public collections. In 2005, she was named the "Snohomish County Artist of the Year."

She views experimentation as an essential part of her process and looks to her sense of humor and outlook on life for inspiration. Terri especially enjoys the discovery process as she plays with various materials, experiments with different textures, and tackles new techniques.

Although textiles have always been a safe harbor, Terri's recent ventures into mixed media have furthered her passion for exploration. The pieces shown in this exhibition incorporate elements of her past love of quilts along with her new infatuation with experimental stitch, acrylics, printmaking, and various mediums.
