

CONNECTING STEM TO NW TRIBAL ART & CULTURE

OCT. 25 (5-8:30 PM) & OCT. 26 (9 AM-5 PM), 2019

SCHACK ART CENTER, 2921 HOYT AVE., EVERETT, WA 98201

The Schack Art Center proudly presents our annual teacher art workshop (offered for OSPI or Everett SD clock hours), Connecting Stem to NW Tribal Art & Culture. Designed for the generalist teacher, this interactive workshop will explore cultural aspects of the NW Coast Native Americans. Participants will learn how resources were utilized within their environment and attain ideas for integrating the required OSPI tribal sovereignty curriculum into other content areas. Participants will gain an understanding of NW Coast Natives as the “first scientists,” and discover their use of technology, engineering and mathematics, all within the notable features of their visual art. Through visual art processes, ideas will be shared to engage students’ learning and spark imagination with innovative hands-on projects that support students’ learning. In an interactive manner, STEM - in tandem with Art - will guide participants to apply creative skills they already possess. This course does meet the STEM requirement for certification. Assessment strategies will be discussed and all activities are designed to be class-time efficient.

Workshop Goal: Through visual art processes, participants will gain insight and understanding of ways NW Coast Natives applied STEM practices to utilize natural resources and produce culturally relevant artwork.
